BIO

Jennifer Lancaster started freelance copywriting in 2009, while also writing books on managing money, abundance, and niche marketing. Her latest is 'Creative Ways with Money'— published in February 2020.

Not content with just writing and publishing her own books, Jennifer has supported other authors' publishing goals since 2013. She continues to edit many books across the health and body, personal development, spiritual, history and property genres.

Her business serves authors who are reaching their later years and have much to offer in terms of story and knowledge. Some are history writers. One was even a reality TV star.

Jennifer gives talks on niche marketing for authors.
